of the situation of Jews in Roumania where demands have been made that persecution cease and the Jews be given equal rights guaranteed them under the Berlin treaty of 1858 the executive committee's report says.

There are indications that this problem is about to assume a new phase. The situation in Roumania is dealt with extensively but the conclusion is reached that the condition of Jews in that country remains practically as hopeless as last year while it is noted that in the face of usual horrors there has been added economic persecution of the Jews in Poland. That the Poles in ruining Jews are also ruining themselves is the committee's conclusion.

Plan Memorial Service
KIEV, Nov. 9.—The Society of the Double-headed Eagle announces a memorial service for Andrew Yushinsky, who was brutally tortured to death by the police with the ritual object. The services will be held Monday in St. Sophia cathedral, which stands within a hundred yards of the court, where the trial of Mendel Beilis, charged with the murder, has been going on.

The student Golitsky, a member of the Black Hundreds, president of the antisemitic Union of Student Monarchists who figured prominently in the trial, calls upon all Christians to pray for the soul of the martyr that he may forgive and be included in the Allowance of the discount to ships of those nations claiming equal rights with American bottoms would have resulted in an estimated loss of $10,000,000 annually in customs duties. This would have created a deficit instead of a surplus in the treasury, as has been estimated by the tariff framers.

Importers who are dissatisfied with the opinion of the decision, general may present to the collector of customs at the port of entry, who will lay their objections before the board of general appraisers. In case the board's decision is unsatisfactory to the appellant, the case may be carried to the court of customs appeals for final disposition.

Many dead were left in the streets until a hull in the fighting should attack time for burning the battle. A view of the ruins of the station, the Central Railway station, where a conflict entered, showed an entire block destroyed by fire and cannonade with numerous bodies in the ruins. (Glen Miguel) whose residence was one of the finest in northern Mexico was burned to death when Constitutionalists destroyed the house by fire. Constitutionalists captured the barracks of the First Federal Battalion and the barracks of the First Federal Battalion. (Glen Miguel) showed the buildings.

The north facade of the governor's palace was shot away. The property was said to be enormous. The fire also claimed their damage will amount to $7,000,000.

In the yards 652 cars many loaded with merchandise were burned. The munitions and more than 20 airplanes were destroyed. The loss of life is heavy but exact figures were not available.

At the evening session of the trial tonight the president of the court asked Mellis if he desired to make a statement. The prisoner replied quickly that he would not make any longer a statement in court and that he went to home to his wife and children. You can see for yourselves that I am innocent.

The jury will consider a verdict to-morrow. Part of the sitting of the court today was devoted to replies by counsel to previous speeches in accordance with the Russian legal custom which permits this.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9.—A severe cold and wind storm crippled the city today and damaged wires and poles. Although this storm tonight let in less of snow and ice than the wind attained a velocity of 40 miles an hour. Telephone and telegraph wires to New York City and a great many of the bus lines were down, although the telegraph companies are now establishing makeshift circuits through Cleveland and out from a communication early tonight and for a time it was impossible to reach Out City, Toledo and parts north of Train service east of New Orleans was badly hampered all day through trains running hours late and local trains either held at station points or annulled. The storm was especially severe in this city. Part of West Virginia and eastern Ohio are believed to have suffered considerable damage but attempts to communicate with these sections have failed.

Steamers in Rough Seas
NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—From the time she left Liverpool, the steamship Celtic, which arrived today, encountered rough weather. The Celtic's 24 1/2 knot time was 13 knots an hour and for two days the big steamship floundered in the rough seas, averaging much more than six knots.

The steamship Lucia, which arrived today from Trieste, also reported severe weather. The decks were flooded, the hatches smashed and the rigging damaged. The Lucia was also 24 1/2

The bad weather did not abate to-day and both steamships ran into a heavy fog and wind storm off Sandy Hook. In New York city a heavy rain and storm accompanied intermittent winds and much damage due to broken chimneys, windows and dislodged signs is reported.

Telegraphic communications to points to the north and west of New York city was interrupted and in some instances suspended for some time tonight because of a heavy wind that accompanied the rain and snow storm in the interior and blew down wires and poles. Western Union Telegraph and cable officials said that the worst storm in the history of the summer in the Middle and Pittsburgh and between Buffalo and Chicago. ## Mayor Investigating Water Meter Plan

Pointing out that he is now formulating a better method of water taxation, Mayor McKesson yesterday morning discussed the water meter scheme before the Men's Brotherhood class at the First Congregational church. The men of the class, who discuss various topics connected with city, state and national government, brought up the matter, the majority claiming that the present form of water taxation is unfair.

Mayor McKesson gave his view of the matter, which coincided largely with the general opinion, and stated that he is now investigating what other cities are doing and is figuring on a change for Colorado Springs.

MAYOR THINKS CITY TAX ON AUTOMOBILES IS FAIR

Does Not Believe Ordinance Covering Special License Fee Will Be Repealed at Present

According to Mayor C. L. McKesson, the city council may make arrangements by which the city tax on automobiles will be used for the improvement of the streets of Colorado Springs. The mayor is of the opinion that if the automobile owners and other taxpayers who petition that the city tax be withdrawn knew that the money they paid the city as automobile tax was being used on the streets, there would not be any objection to the special tax.

"It is not the city's fault that the state law provides for taxing the tax on automobiles," said Mayor McKesson last night. "Although the money the state collects is used on the county and state roads, none of it goes to the city. I think the city commissioners feel that under present conditions, the city auto tax ordinance could not be repealed at this time."

"Local automobilists do not realize the position in which the city is placed in the matter. Our streets must be kept up for the use of automobiles and we must hire speed and traffic officers to enforce the traffic ordinance. In this way the city must expend extra money on account of automobiles. The state tax on machines is the unfair one."

FIRES STOP FOLLOWING ARREST OF FINNEGAN

Man Suspected of Setting Six Buildings Ablaze Saturday Night to Be Examined Today

With the arrest of Don Finnegan, aged 48, late Saturday night, the reign of terror caused by incendiary fires stopped. The police are certain that Finnegan is the man who set fire to six buildings within three hours Saturday night, causing a property loss estimated at $10,000. A false alarm last night caused the firemen to expect a repetition of Saturday night's series of fires, but the alarms did not continue.

Finnegan, who told the police Saturday night that he fired several buildings because he liked to see the fire and the crowd of people, was not questioned yesterday. The police will give him time to recover from the effects of liquor before the cross-examination will be continued.

Many large warehouses and other valuable property in the western part of Colorado Springs in the vicinity of the six fires that were started Saturday night were guarded last night by watchmen in the fear that more fires might be started.

The vigilance of the police was continued and several additional suspects were jailed. Chief of Police Burns said last night, however, that he is morally certain that Finnegan is the man who started the fires.

While absent President Slocum will be the guest at banquets of Colorado college alumni associations in Chicago, Boston and New York city.

Protests Criticism of Insane Asylum

Protesting against recent newspaper criticisms of his institution, Dr. H. A. LaMoure, superintendent of the state asylum for the insane at Pueblo, delivered an address at All Souls church last night on "The Modern Treatment of the Insane." Dr. LaMoure said that the institution is being conducted on principles as modern as the state's appropriation will permit.

The speaker mentioned that the accommodations of the institution are so small that many patients must be turned away. He said that there are about 150 aged patients in the asylum who are not really insane except from old age. These he declared should be released, but they could not be turned loose upon society because there is no care for them.

Dr. LaMoure suggested that some arrangements be made for the care of this class of patients, thereby alleviating crowded conditions because of small accommodations. A discussion followed in which Judge W. P. Kinney of the county court took an active part.

REV. ROBERT DECLARES NEW RELIGION IS DAWNING

Pastor of All Souls Preaches Strong Sermon on Religion and the Coming Church

The Rev. Thomas S. Robert preached yesterday morning at All Souls church on "Bergson and the Coming Church." He said in part:

"It is generally supposed that Professor Bergson's next book, which is due probably within the next five or six years, is to be on 'The Philosophy of Religion.' He has said very little concerning the conclusion he has arrived at, but the opinion is characteristic of the man that he never announces his conclusions until he is quite sure of the facts. Master mind that he is—the greatest constructive thinker I have ever known. I think that the religious life is one of the greatest problems of life."

Tolstoy, in his essay on art, says that the man who is religious has lost the claim to history, and the great philosophers of the world agree in designating to religion a conspicuous place. Bergson's view of religion can only be gleaned from chance statements in his books and essays, but one thing is clear, that he will bring to bear upon this problem the same thorough-going logic that he has brought to bear on the great question of the universe and life."

Theology may have its reservations, large areas over which are marked 'no thought-faire' or 'no opinion'—but no such marks appear in Bergson's work. To him 'Whoever puts his hand to the plow and looking back is not fit for the kingdom of thought.' Another thing is clear, that Bergson sharply distinguishes between religion and religionists."

Professor Buckton, the great German philosopher, says in one of his books that there are clear signs on the continent of Europe that 'Christianity is passing religion' while Dr. William S. Rainford, for 30 years pastor of St. George's church, New York city, a church made famous by the fact that the late J. Pierpont Morgan was a member and the chief financial power, says in an article in a leading periodical only the other day that the church was dying of dry rot. He gave as his reason for this belief that the church was entirely aloof from the great mass of the people and except in spots oblivious to the needs of the day. He also declared that the church was resting comfortably in the midst of doctrines that belong to the middle ages, while the average man is thinking in the terms of the philosophy of today."

Religion Will Stand Always

Bergson was quoted in New York his opinion of Professor Buckton's statement. He said that the question did not interest him. "Religion," he said, "may pass, but in the natural course of evolution, but religion stands."

Bergson has made several recent contributions to religion. First, he has declared that the idea of a universal law that is not a mechanism, but a vital force. The ultimate reality is creative, evolving life. And since life is creative, it implies purpose. Bergson is moving straight to the heart of the idea that the great life process of which he speaks is one of infinite purpose. He says explicitly: 'Consciousness in general must be coextensive with the universal law. The law of evolution is universal. It will evolve the kindred idea of personality, time alone will prove. Second, Bergson declares his belief that this infinite life process means goodness, and not evil, just as evolution means the effort to get in contact with life. The process of evolution is moving through all the essential unity of life so, although we see as it were, the failures of evil, sorrow and pain, yet running through all is the unity of goodness. Third, Bergson declares his belief that there is a universe which is natural from center to circumference. In this universe there is nothing supernatural, nothing unknown, nothing miraculous. God, man, law, are bound up at all times in the same natural life. All the dark spectrum which lifted their shadowy forms so hideous and distinct in the theology of the past have no place in Bergson's world. Fourth, Bergson declares that religion is an evolutionary process. The effort to put the infinite in a frame, to define him as one would define a solid matter, is as silly as the effort that we find in some of the great churches in Europe to reach God, to actually paint him in human form."

Religion and Reality

In his brilliant essay on "Laughter," Bergson says that if religion means anything, it means getting into touch with reality—getting the vision to reflect itself upon one's own life and to translate itself into work for humanity. He says, "If we could enter into intimate communion with things and with the universe, we would continually vibrate in perfect accordance with nature. Our eyes would carve out the most inimitable of pictures. Hewn in living marble of the living form fragments of statues, beautiful as the relief of antique statues, would strike the passing sense. Deep in our souls we should hear the strain of the melody of our inner life." All this is around us and within us, but our eyes are blind and we do not make the effort to get in contact with life. We do not allow the image to reflect itself upon our souls and we do not translate it into work for humanity, into beauty, justice and truth."

Bergson's watchword is, "Room for Life." Let the eternal source of life have its way with us. The fault of theology is that it allows thought to become fossilized, crystallized and dead. The life process is hindered in its course. The life which Bergson believes is lapsed life, life externalized, life devalued, resists the onward push of life. When, in matter, the door is opened a little life comes in, when it is opened a little more the higher life comes in and when it is opened a little more the highest life comes in, and matter takes on face and speaks to life, so, if we would realize what the eternal is no obstacles of fossilized thought must stand in the way."

If this is religion, why should we be agitated at the thought that peradventure...

Our little systems have their day, they have their day and cease to be. They are but broken links to the chain. And thou, O God, art more than they."

More New Religion Dawning

Why should we be agitated at the thought that peradventure Christianity may be a passing religion? Out of the ashes or born out of the heart of the past a new religion may be dawning. Let us face the facts. After 2000 years of Christianity 95 per cent of our population are seemingly indifferent to the faith that we profess. Does this mean that a new religion is dawning? Among this 5 per cent of mankind there are some of the noblest and truest men and women in our modern society.

They are unburdened as far as the

OPENING SUNDAY CONCERT FILM PRINCESS THEATER

Orchestra Gives Excellent Program, but Collection Is Less Than Half of Afternoon's Expenses

More than 600 people went to the Princess theater yesterday afternoon to hear the first of the Sunday afternoon concert series to be given during the present winter season, by the Colorado Springs Musical club. And by the enthusiastic manner in which the musical organization was greeted by the crowd, it is evident that Colorado Springs musical lovers are anxious to have the concert series continued throughout the season.

However, the audience of more than 600 people contributed but $100.00, just $44 less than is required to finance one concert. Expecting the public to support the concert, the Musical club has appropriated but $100.00 for the entire season, already having one-third of this sum in hand. Under such conditions it will be impossible for the club to continue the concert series for any number of weeks.

Through the provisions of a city ordinance, no amusements for which admission is charged may operate here on Sunday. Believing there existed a real demand for Sunday afternoon musicals in this city, and especially for high-class music, the Musical club last year inaugurated its Sunday afternoon orchestra concert, announcing that they would be free to the public, but that a collection would be taken to defray the expenses. The cost of giving a concert is $25, practically 10 cents each for everyone who occupies a seat in the house, and it was thought that such a small sum to make possible Sunday attractions.

Not Seeking Financial Gain

The Musical club is giving the concert merely to provide entertainment on Sunday afternoons during the winter, when the parks and mountain resorts fall to other diversion; not for financial gain. At the end of the season last year, the organization faced a large deficit, but it was thought the people would byer understand the situation this year and would support the concert in some way. The first concert, the outlook for the season is not promising, although the club will endeavor to continue the entertainment throughout the winter.

The orchestra this year is made up of 25 musicians, under the direction of Edwin A. Dietrich, and the program given yesterday was one, which insures the maintenance of a high standard throughout the season. The orchestra is fairly well balanced and the musicians show that they have spent much time in preparation for the concert. Each of the five numbers making up yesterday's program was well received, and it seemed to be the consensus of opinion that an hour was far too short a time for the concert.

different sects are concerned, but they represent a sweeter and more human religion than the world has yet dreamed of. The new religion may as yet be unorganized, but it is very real, and includes the great majority of the world's population. The new church is coming. In it the ideal man of necessity, the perfect man of religion, will be the man who has learned to think, not superficially or provincially, but nationally. It will be the man who is moral because he is big, the man who is brave because he is true, the man who is kind because he has learned how to love his fellow man, the man who is generous because he is free, the man who is just because he is true, the man who is pure because he is true, the man who is good because he is true, the man who is great because he is true, the man who is noble because he is true, the man who is wise because he is true, the man who is brave because he is true, the man who is kind because he is true, the man who is generous because he is free, the man who is just ## FOOTBALL STYLES GOING BACK; COACHES AFRAID TO OPEN UP UNDER NEW RULES

Mines and Colorado Tied for Mountain Championship

Saturday's football games of the Rocky Mountain conference narrowed the championship contest down to two undefeated teams, Colorado university and the Colorado School of Mines, each of which defeated Saturday the only remaining contenders when Colorado eliminated Utah by a top-heavy score, and the Mines killed a vicious game with Colorado college, winning by a margin of four points.

The Mines already had defeated Utah, but because of the disbanding of the Mines and Summit, two Mormon veterans, the lack of whose steady and brainy playing badly crippled the Mines team in the game with Colorado. Football enthusiasts have not generally drawn any conclusions from the difference in scores and play of the Mines' earlier game and the Colorado victory of yesterday.

The same is true with the game between the Mines and Colorado college. The Mines played the Tigers in a dry, fast gridiron yesterday, while the university struggled against the Mines on a wet and heavy field two weeks ago. The style of playing in each game was materially different. The university play necessarily was one of smashing and heavy attack, while the Mines yesterday were able to use the open formations and tail shift, as appeared to the Minnesota shift of the Tigers.

The Mines and the university team will enter their game in December, two weeks hence for the conference games, and it is expected that the Mines will be able to play against Nebraska next Saturday. Kansas opened up now of its trick plays against Washburn, which was played in reserve for the Nebraska game.

Championship of Big Eight Decided on Saturday

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Saturday's middle western football games, preparatory to the big championship games of the season, established the strength of Michigan, proved Nebraska is still a formidable fighting machine, and added to the list of peculiar incidents of the season, 13 games in which the winning team scored two touchdowns. Michigan's victory came in a bruising match with Cornell. Nebraska gained new honors by smothering the Nebraska Wesleyan team, making this showing with its star backfield on the sidelines. Two touchdown victories were injected into most of the big games of the west, the largest teams being content with narrow margins.

Iowa defeated Indiana by a top-heavy score instead of the expected close margin. Purdue opened up its offense and displayed strong scoring power against the best team Rose Polytechnic has had recently. Iowa's victory was its final game of the year against a "Big Nine" team. The remaining games will be west of the Mississippi river. It has won two games and lost one in its conference but has scored 144 points and had 29 scored against it.

Missouri a Contender.
In the Missouri Valley, Drake and Missouri staged one of the bitter battles, expected when these teams meet. Missouri's 10-point margin establishes it with Kansas and Nebraska, as the three leading teams of the Missouri valley conference. Kansas and Nebraska met this week and Kansas and Missouri the week following. Missouri has the strategic position of playing a weak team Saturday while Kansas is hurling all its strength against Nebraska. The latter team has a hard battle with Iowa in prospect a week later. Experts believe the final decision between these will result in a better earned championship title than did the games of the last two seasons.

Michigan Nears Craig.
The week's showing of the middle west against the east was not as decisive as for the week preceding. Both Michigan and Notre Dame won. Conflating reports of the Pennsylvania State-Notre Dame game agree in one particular, that Notre Dame had the easterners puzzled with its forward pass. The Cornell game again demonstrated Craig was the missing cog in the early season Michigan machine. The two western teams now have four inter-sectional victories to their credit with the Michigan-Pennsylvania game on the card for this week.

The "Big Nine" championship will be decided next Saturday and it is possible the Missouri valley struggle may be ended by the result of the Kansas-Nebraska game.

Mud Holds Back Big Eastern Teams Playing

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Despite handicap of mudmired gridirons, the play of the leading eastern university football teams Saturday demonstrated that all are rounding into form for the final games of the 1913 season. The trend of improvement was plainly evident.

As was the case two weeks ago the question of what the ultimate outcome of several of the more important contests would be were they to be played on dry, fast gridirons, will furnish material for unlimited discussion. The fact remains, however, that in no case was there an alarming reversal of form.

In several instances, defeated teams developed surprising strength. This was notably true in the Harvard-Princeton game. The Tigers opened with a shift formation attack which completely baffled the Crimson forwards in the first period. Had the field been dry, it is quite possible Princeton would have scored one or more touchdowns. The slippery footing, however, slowed up their plays after a particularly heavy shower and gave the Harvard scrimmage a chance to diagnose the attack. After this was accomplished Princeton lost her formidable appearance. As a famous veteran pointed out after the game, Princeton gained less and less ground on each attack which was a clear indication of Harvard's defensive strength under hard fire. The Tigers, on the other hand, completely upset the Cambridge team attack all through the game and important gains were due to individual prowess and excellent interference. The Crimson runners passed the Princeton forwards at bay.

Harvard Defends Shans.
While Princeton could and did pierce the Harvard line, practically the entire right wing, particularly the defense of the Crimson, was strong and shut off promising runs and forward passes in impressive style. This same alertness was evident in protecting Hardwick and Brickley in their punting and drop-kicking. Neither was forced to hurry as were Law and Baker, due to the savage manner in which the Harvard forward charged through. It was this weakness that really lost the game for poor passing and hurried kicking finally caused one of Law's punts to be blocked near Princeton's goal, thus opening the way for Brickley's field goal.

In sharp contrast to the slow, conservative and uninteresting game played by Princeton and Harvard, was the Dartmouth-Pennsylvania contest at Philadelphia. By a judicious combination of old and new football tactics the Hanover team defeated the Quakers, 34 to 21. Since Dartmouth had previously defeated Princeton, a score of 6 to 0, the comparison of Pennsylvania and Dartmouth with Harvard and Princeton does not reveal the two latter university teams in the light of all-conquering combinations.

Not Taking Advantages
The opinion is gaining weight among some leading football experts that the coaches of the largest eastern college teams are so conservative that they fail to take advantage of the possibilities of the so-called new rules permitting open football.

Playing a game similar to that of Harvard and Princeton, the reconstructed Yale team defeated Brown by a 17 to 0 score on a waterlogged gridiron. The Providence eleven, comparatively weak this season, has already been defeated by Pennsylvania, 28 to 0, and Colby, 10 to 0, so that Yale did not accomplish a remarkable feat. Nor was the Brown attack able to demonstrate the caliber of the Blue. The real test in this respect will come in the game with Princeton next Saturday. Cornell, to whom it fell to defend eastern football honors in the only inter-sectional game of the day, failed lamentably, being defeated by Michigan, 17 to 0. Due to the strong Cornell line, however, Michigan was forced to resort to the western system of open play. So far as the old-time game was concerned, Cornell was outclassed by Yale's versatile team and was unable to gain consistently at any time.

So far as large scores are concerned the Army and Navy teams won chief honors of the day, defeating Albright, 77 to 0, and Bucknell, 50 to 7, respectively.

TERRORS PLAY FOR STATE CHAMPIONSHIP SATURDAY

Game Should Be Most Spectacular Intercollegiate Game of the Season

The Terrors start work tonight training for their most important game that with the Boulder Preps on Washburn field Saturday for the intercollegiate title. The game should be an exhibition of the new open style football that both teams have specialized in.

The game will be played under some queer rulings that the northern section has adopted. The game is shortened and it makes the use of the forward pass more spectacular.

Both teams will be guests at a box party at the Opera house Saturday night.

15,000 Los Angeles Fans See Giants and Sox Tie

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9.—The New York Giants and Chicago White Sox played a hit or miss 7 to 7, nine-inning tie game here this afternoon, before 15,000 fans. Leverenz started in the box for Chicago but after the Giants had made twelve hits and six runs in five innings he was replaced by Faber. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of the ninth.

Score:
Giants: 0 0 1 0 1 0 4 0 7 15 3
White Sox: 0 0 0 0 1 0 3 3 0 7 14 3
Terror and Wingo; Leverenz, Faber and Reich.

George Stallings emphatically denies the statement credited to him that the American league is 30 per cent stronger than the National. The manager of the Boston Braves brands the story as a base fabrication.

LAST WORD IN ART CRITICISM

From the Coos Bay (Ore.) Times.
A copy of the famous, some say infamous, painting, "September Morn," is on exhibition at one of the Marchfield stores. A wise guy, art critic of this department, was detailed to see it and prepare a criticism, and turned in the following:

"I had intended giving space in this valuable family paper this evening to 'Miss September Morn,' the same being a liver colored young lady, about trying size, standing on one foot in an absolute colored wet spot about three inches deep and hugging herself because she is cold, or on second thought, she may be hugging herself because we ain't present."

"She can't be hugging herself because she is cold, because she can't be cold. If she was cold she would have goosepimples, and she ain't got a pimply. If she had we could get it. She is looking off toward the Coos bay laundry (this will cost Jones 10 cents a line) and wondering why her wash don't come home. She is dressed in a web of bourbon colored hair and that's all at present."

LOW SCORES TURNED IN AT GOLF CLUB ON SATURDAY

C. P. Dodge Takes Second Round For Autumn Cup, Presented by H. G. Lunt

Charles T. Fertig and Rush L. Holland tied in the sweepstakes at the Colorado Springs Golf club Saturday, each returning a par 74. In the second day's play for the Autumn cup, presented by H. G. Lunt, C. P. Dodge turned in a card of 71 with H. C. Watt second with 78. J. Ray Lowell who led in the first round of play on November 1 did not take part Saturday, being at the game in Denver. There will be two more rounds of play for the cup.

Scores turned in were: Randol, 77; Hubbell, 79; Watt, 78; Matthews, 80; Wolf, 76; Elliot, 76; J. M. Johnson, 86; Cogdill, 82; Dodge, 71; Williams, 84; Cox, 80; I. G. Drown, 87; Lundstrom, 82; Butler, 81.

Western League Club Owners Meet 15 Min.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Club owners of the Western league held the shortest annual meeting on record today and adjourned to meet again Tuesday morning at Columbus. They left to night for Columbus, where they will attend the annual gathering of the minor leagues.

The season today was in the office of Charles Comiskey and lasted but 15 minutes. The accounts of President O'Neill were audited and approved. There was some discussion as to whether the schedule would contain 166 or 154 games but the subject was gone into only superficially. This question will be decided at Columbus.

There was no talk of trades here but the club owners said they expected several deals would be consummated at Columbus.

SHEA'S ANKLE BROKEN; PRINCETON FFANS YALE

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 9. The injury which necessitated the removal of Ed Shea from the right end of the Princeton line in Saturday's game with Harvard has turned out to be a broken ankle, and he will be out of the game for the remainder of the season. The other Princeton players came through the contest unscathed.

Coch Andrews said today the varsity players would have no hard scrimmage this week because of the proximity of the Yale game. The 14 players who went to Atlantic City last night are not expected back until Tuesday.

Anderson was a great favorite with the "Amos corner" at the old home of the Yankees, and the story goes that one day the rosters rose and sang "Swing John" for his benefit. The thoroughly aroused Anderson rushed over and shouted: "I have just as much money as any of you! I'm not poor at all!"

CURTIS' DECISION COST TIGERS THE GAME; C. C. AND AGGIES DISPUTING OVER CONTRACT

Locals Play Last Conference Contest With
D. U. in Denver on Next Saturday

A painful lack of knowledge of the rules on the part of Referee Curtis gave the Mines a touchdown and caused the Tigers the loss of the game at Denver Saturday. The incident in question came in the second quarter, when the mines had worked the ball up to the five-yard line of the Tigers and a forward pass was hurled to Himmann across the line into the 10-yard zone. The pass was incomplete, Himmann dropping the ball, and despite the protests of the Tigers, Curtis allowed the ball to be taken back and give the Mines another chance. The ball should have been given to the Tigers on a touchback and taken to the 20-yard line. The rule is specific, making an incomplete forward pass over the goal line in the end zone a touchback. The rule reads: "It is a touchback when a forward pass crosses either the end or side line extended; when it strikes the goal posts or crossbar, or when it touches the ground within the end zone."

Another indication of poor officiating was the work of Crowley, who, time and time again, warned the Mines to keep inside, stating that he would penalize them if they did it again. None of the officials were competent.

Regie Didn't Know He Did It.
Another feature of the aftermath talk was the fact that Regie, the big Tiger tackle, did not know that he made the last Tiger touchdown. When he was tackled at the goal line he struck his head and played the few remaining minutes in a daze. After the game he asked about the last touchdown, and wouldn't believe that he had made the score himself.

Although they have been completely eliminated from the championship race, the Tigers are not as downcast as many of those who lost wagers on them. Several of the players are badly bruised from the encounter, but will be out for work this week. Koch's injured back gave him trouble in the game. Parnell was kicked in the back of the head in the first half and was dazed, and Gibson started his "charley horse" again. The players will be out for practice tonight and there may be a few changes.

Aggie Trouble Up to Date.
Unless difficulties with the Aggies are patched up, the Tigers have but two games left on their 1913 schedule. They meet Denver university at Denver Saturday, and on Thanksgiving play Emporia college of Emporia, Kan. The Mines are not a team to be despised, and have a strong line, but an inexperienced backfield.

On November 22, the Aggie authorities had claimed that they had a contract with the college dating from last spring. At that time a provisional agreement was entered in which the schools agreed to play on a date to be decided upon by both teams. The Aggies picked the date and said nothing to the Tiger authorities, and now claim that the locals should play them on November 22. They have suggested Thanksgiving, but that date is already filled on the local schedule.

The trouble dates back to last fall, when Leigh, an Aggie man, was injured in the game on Washburn field. In statements in the Agricultural college paper charges were made that the Tigers had "been coached to get the man," and the charge caused much indignation and resentment among the Tiger players and fans who knew the situation.

Another talk in the Aggie situation is summed up in the following dispatch from Fort Collins in a Denver paper:

The officials and members of the football team at the Agricultural college are incensed over a report which came in a letter from a student at Colorado college to a student at the local institution to the effect that Dean S. Arthur Johnson of the Agricultural college, in a letter to an official of the Colorado Springs institution, had invited the faculty of Colorado college to come to Fort Collins to see the game between Colorado college and the Aggies. Dean Johnson would not be welcome.

There is absolutely no feeling against Coach Rothgeb, either at the college or among the townspeople, and all are anxious to see the game played as scheduled. Some of the Colorado college people, however, insist that feeling against their coach, who was formerly coach here, is strong in Fort Collins, and C. C. has practically refused to come here for the game.

Dean Johnson stated that there was absolutely no truth in it. This only letter he has written to the institution was addressed to a member of the faculty asking him to come here to address the student body, and that letter had not reached Colorado Springs when the letter which carried the report reached Fort Collins.

An innovation in football will be tried out here next Tuesday. The merchants of Fort Collins, as well as those in other cities, have frequently asked that football games be played on other days than Saturday. Saturday is a busy day for merchants everywhere. In the first place, the merchants want to see the games and cheer when they are played on Saturday, and in the second place the games attract a large number of people who might otherwise join the shopping throngs downtown. So, to try out the idea, Coach Hughes scheduled the game with the Utah Aggies to be played on Tuesday.

The result of the experiment will be watched with interest, not only here, but all over the state. The Aggie team is in good shape for the battle with the Utah Aggies. Trouble will not be in the game, having gone to join the militia in the strike district.

"Big" Murphy, who suffered a strained knee in the game with the Mines last Saturday, is having some trouble with the injured member, but hopes to be in shape in time for the Utah game. The rest of the team is in good condition and is practicing hard nightly. Coach Hughes is drilling his men on some new formations to be sprung on the Utah Aggies.

AN EXCELLENT FIRE

From Answers, London.
Mrs. Brown at last had found a cook—really first-rate cook, but one who, unfortunately, knew nothing about the manipulation of a gas stove. Mrs. Brown, therefore, sent her husband to the kitchen to explain matters. This he proceeded to do very thoroughly, lighting each of the many burners in order that the cook might really see how the range was operated.

While he was explaining, a message called him from the kitchen—
"Oh, well," he remarked as he turned away, "you'll soon learn how it works, won't you, Martha?"

Several days elapsed before master and cook met again. Then one morning Mr. Brown happened to meet Martha in the hall.
"Well," he asked, "and how's the range doing?"

To his and Mrs. Brown's utter consternation, this was the reply:
"Deed, sir, that's the best stove I ever did see. The fire you kindled for me four days ago is still a-burning, and it ain't even lowered once."

SECRET BELIEF IN GOD

WHY NOT SAVE SOULS

Evangelist Pratt Tells Two Big Congregations That Mere Profession

Does Not Make Christians

The Rev. Benaiah Pratt told two great congregations last night that a certificate of membership in a church organization did not make a man or woman a Christian and that a cynical world looked a Christian by his life and his deeds rather than by his professions.

His sermons were directed to the point that if a person was a real Christian he would be different and that people who belonged to churches and who drank and swore and outraged the poor and didn't pay their debts would have a mighty hard time getting an entrance into the kingdom of heaven unless they radically changed their habits.

It was the first Sunday night service of the union revival meetings of the central churches of the city, and there was a gratifying audience at both the First Baptist and the First Presbyterian churches. The number of people who attended was declared to be at least 2,500.

At the Baptist church the Rev. Marie N. Smith made the opening prayer and choruses were sung by a choir under the direction of Mrs. Booth. Mrs.
 Booth sang a solo entitled, "My Father Watches Over Me." The Rev.
 W. W. Ranney made the concluding prayer.

Real Christians Are Different.
 Mr. Pratt's text was directed to the fact that real Christians were expected to be different in character and conduct from other people of the world. His text was taken from Hebrews "Beloved, we are persuaded better things of you than that accompany salvation." He said, in part:

All men and women know when they have salvation. You cannot have your life cleaned from sin and not know it,
 and others will know that you are a child of God. The life lived with Christ in God must express itself. The next thing after you become a child of God is to make a public confession and profession of it. There are those who say that the public confession of your changed life is not necessary, but I say to you that you are not willing to make public confession of it somewhere and somehow whether in your home or your office or your store or your church, then there is doubt and uncertainty as to your conversion
 at all.

A secret belief in God and a salvation will never save your soul.
 The second evidence of conversion
 from sin and the changed life is manifested by joining some local church.
 Some people say they may be a good Christian and yet not a church member. This may be but you will certainly not be a good Christian. You cannot be a good Christian and have in open disobedience to God's commands. If you are saved from sin you will love God's house and God's people and want to fellowship with them. You will be like the 7-year-old girl whom we admitted to membership and when we questioned her she said she wanted to join the church to be distinguished from sinners." I talked to a man for three hours one day
 about joining the church, and he said,
 "I believe in Christ but I don't want him." "Your life doesn't prove it." He was a man so profane that he swore with nearly every sentence. There is only one institution in the world that stands for God's teachings and that is the church of God.

Acts Must Prove Faith.
 The world will not accept a certificate of membership in a church, however, that a man is a Christian. It is open disobedience to God's commands. You must prove that you are a Christian by your acts. The world requires more than confession of the lips. They will not accept your word or mine as evidence of being saved from sin. There are hypocrites in the churches just the same as in the lodges or among the doctors and lawyers.
 There are too many church members who don't pay their debts, too many who believe in God and yet don't love their neighbors, persons who run up debts
 and do not pay them or try to pay them.

When I was a credit man for a general store, I found a preacher with a salary of $1,000 who would not pay his debts, and I did my part to get him out of the ministry, and he is still out. A Christian man is a man who is able to get credit anywhere if they live up to what they profess. Unfortunately they do not in many cases. Why, if some of you folks were asked to take off everything that you hadn't paid for right here and now, the ushers would have to turn off the lights.

Lots of people are just "sinners" when it comes to church membership, but they do not speak the language of the kingdom because they haven't learned it. They join for what they can get out of it. Everyone who is really born into the kingdom of God is led by the spirit of God. The world takes off its hats to the real, true Christian no matter what his station in life.

Proofs of Christianity.
 There are just two things which demonstrate one's Christianity. "Whoever doth not righteousness, he is not of God, neither is he that loveth not his brother." Jesus said, "Ye shall know my disciples if ye love one another." The world honors a holy good life, one that beats with love for God and love for his fellow men.

In conclusion, Dr. Pratt told tonight's Moody revival audience
 when despite the fact of severe illness he went to Kansas City to conduct a great meeting. Moody's love for men and his passion for getting them into the kingdom was evidence that he was a real Christian and had been saved from his sins.

Tonight the meeting will be held in the Christian church, and a large attendance is anticipated. Each day after school Miss Haus meets the boys and girls at the First Presbyterian church to direct their thoughts to the Christian life.
